

Doctor-Led Consultations

Doctor-led consultations will explain the findings of your results, which have a 99.97% scientific accuracy. That's higher than any other company currently on the market.

You will be taken through every detail of your Nutrition DNA profile in your first consultation. In future meetings you can track your nutritional progress, discover & discuss what changes you have made and how it has impacted your day-to-day, and be given further guidance on additional changes that could be made to ensure you live your best possible life.
